Soledad García Muñoz
Oas, Cidh, United States

Soledad García Muñoz is an attorney of Argentine nationality with a specialty in fundamental rights from the Universidad Carlos III de Madrid, in Spain, where she did a comparative study of the inter-American human rights system and the European system. Throughout her career, she has led or participated in projects, research, and training opportunities offered to public institutions, human rights defenders, social movements, journalists, and companies in connection with numerous aspects of human rights. She has worked as a consultant for various agencies of the United Nations, the International Organization for Migration (IOM), the OAS, the Ibero-American Youth Organization (OIJ), the Latin American and Caribbean Committee for the Defence of Women's Rights (CLADEM), the International Human Rights Law Institute at DePaul University College of Law in Chicago, and the Human Rights Ombudsman's Office of the Republic of Guatemala, among others.

She served as Project Coordinator for CEDAW-Argentina for the Inter-American Institute of Human Rights (IIHR) and was a member of the Expert Group on Indicators of the Exercise of Women's Rights of the Inter-American Commission of Women (CIM). She worked with Amnesty International, as Chair of its Argentine Section and as a member and Vice-Chair of its International Executive Committee. She has extensive experience in national and international litigation before the European, inter-American, and universal

32nd Annual Conference of the International Society for Environmental Epidemiology

Advancing Environmental Health in a Changing World

ISEE 2020
August 24-27, 2020

human rights systems. She currently serves as IIHR's Regional Representative for South America.

Soledad is the first person to hold the position of IACHR Special Rapporteur on Economic, Social, Cultural, and Environmental Rights